28 April – 1 May 2017

Invitation to the IFFR Spring Meeting 2017

Dear Friends,

Our spring meeting 2017 will take place in the cultural metropolis of the Hohenloher Land, namely in Schwäbisch Hall.

The historic old town in itself is already a cultural experience and offers a truly impressive cityscape. The market square, framed by magnificent half-timbered, Renaissance and Baroque buildings, is a gem. Tradition and modernity face each other in an exciting way in Schwäbisch Hall, in architecture and in art. In the old town, with its covered bridges, half-timbered houses and narrow medieval streets, history comes to life at every step.

The Würth collection, designed with passionate commitment to culture by the entrepreneur Reinhold Würth is one of the largest and most important private art collections of the 20th and 21st century in Germany. It includes more than 17,000 works, especially of classical modernism but also of the Renaissance. Important works are exhibited in the Kunsthalle Würth and in the Johanniterkirche. The Church of St. Michael is certainly one of the city's main attractions with its 54-step staircase on which the open-air theater is played during the summer months. Most attractions are within walking distance of our hotel and the local gastronomy offers plenty of opportunity to enjoy local specialty products and to meet for friendly talks in good company.

Also the surrounding area has its charm, for example Langenburg Castle, the Car Museum in Langenburg or the Grosscomburg Monastery. A bus is available to us for the scheduled tours.

The Adolf Würth Airport (EDTY) is used as a landing site. It is located about 10 minutes by car from our hotel and is equipped for IFR traffic. The nearest international airport is located in Stuttgart, Germany. We will stay in the hotel "Der Adelshof" directly in the city center. A contingent of rooms at a special rate is reserved in this hotel for flying Rotarians until 22 January 2017.

The number of participants is limited to 50 people!
